Committed to supporting young researchers: Call for scientific abstracts

The La Roche-Posay North American Foundation was established in 2005 to support outstanding candidates with promising projects in the field of clinical, biological or pharmacological research linked to dermatology.

This competitive program is open to dermatology residents, fellows, and new practitioners (up to two years beyond training) in the United States and Canada.

All submitted applications will be evaluated by a committee composed of:
Jean Bolognia, MD (Chair; Yale University)
Adam Friedman, MD (Montefiore-Einstein College of Medicine)
Ivan Camacho, MD (University of Miami)
Vincent Ho, MD (University of British Columbia)
Joseph Jorizzo, MD (Weill Cornell Medical College & Wake Forest University)
Sanjay Siddha, MD (University of Toronto)

Three Grants: $10,000, $5,000 & $5,000

To be considered, submit 2 copies of your application in English. Please include:

> Abstract (1 page), research plan and budget (7 pages maximum)
> Curriculum Vitae of the applicant
> A letter of support from mentor or chief of dermatology

All applications must be postmarked by January 15, 2015 to the

Secretariat General
La Roche-Posay Laboratoire Dermatologique
575 Fifth Avenue, 20th Floor
New York, NY 10017
Attention: Gene Colón

Prizes will be announced at the 2015 AAD Annual Meeting in San Francisco, CA.

Applications are limited to one per candidate. Only complete files postmarked by January 15, 2015 will be submitted to the Scientific Committee.